INAUGURAL ADDRESS OF MAYOR BYRON J. MATTHEWS
January 5, 1976

Father Ritchie
Mr. President and Members of the City Council and Wives
Members of My Family
Citizens of Newburyport

We celebrate today not a victory of politics, but a victory of people - not the end of a campaign, but the continuation of a rebirth.

Eight years ago I stood before the people of this city to take the oath of office as Mayor. I stated a number of goals which I would strive to achieve during my term of office. It is not necessary today to enumerate these goals in a specific sense. The passage of time, and the efforts of people, have made these goals not merely the agenda of a new Mayor, but the guiding principles of a new city.

It is enough to say that in establishing certain objectives, I attempted to describe a new vision of what our city could be: something finer, more beautiful than we had before.

In that first inaugural address I called upon people in all walks of life - the native and the new, the young and the old - to join together to create a community in which we all could live with pride and satisfaction.

I was conscious of the wise words of an ancient Greek philosopher who wrote:

"Not houses finely roofed, or the stones
of walls well-built... make the city,
but men able to use their opportunity."

We had, in my judgment, a golden opportunity in Newburyport.

First of all, we possessed an historical heritage that made our city unique. And even though this heritage was more of a dim memory in the minds of our people than a living, moving idea, it nevertheless provided an element of stability on which we could build.

Secondly, God had given us a location which made it possible - if we were willing to work at it - to provide a quality of life that would enrich us all.

Thirdly, there was, not an awakening, but the beginning of an awakening, that we had the power to make our city better than it had ever been.

And finally there were people - many people - with the spirit to work; people who loved this city and recognized the golden opportunity of which I spoke.

And this was our greatest wealth, for after all is said, what is a city, but its own people?

We are now at the beginning of a very special new year. In the next twelve months, in common with our fellow citizens throughout the land, we will be celebrating the Bicentennial of our country's birth. Like all other communities we shall be conducting numerous appropriate activities.

commemorating this great milestone in American history.

However, the Bicentennial year will have added meaning for us in Newburyport. For at the same time we will be observing the 125th birthday of our City. Newburyport played such an important role in the early history of this nation, it is altogether fitting and proper that our own local celebration be joined with the broad national observance.

The year 1976 will be a year to look back to see where we have been, and seeing this, to gather ourselves to move ahead in the coming years to even greater heights, both as a nation and as a city.

It is in this spirit that today I should like to take a brief look at where we have been in Newburyport in the last eight years.

We can all remember the situation in our downtown area: streets torn up; buildings in a shambles; no sense of direction; and a very real discontentment which overshadowed the life of the city. It is of little matter now why this was so, and it would be of no consequence to re-fight the old battles.

What does matter, and what is of consequence, is that in 1976 we look upon a different scene.

We see old buildings restored and rehabilitated in a way that is the envy of cities throughout the nation.

We see places like Inn Street and Market Square transformed from murk and drabness into areas that not only please the eye, but which excite the spirit.

We see new businesses in a bewildering variety and old businesses which have joined in the renaissance - and altogether providing a new life downtown which is invigorating and stimulating.

Above all we see beauty and pride.

The things I have mentioned so briefly also bespeak progress. And here again we are justified in celebrating our achievements. For in the twentieth century, progress has all too often meant the disruption of human values, the uprooting of things which are old and beautiful, an emphasis on that which was useful but ugly.

Here we have made progress, and we will continue to do so, without sacrificing human values or the beauty of nature or design. For these things are closely involved with the quality of life.

We have not neglected the economic situation of the city. Indeed, the opposite is true. Nothing that we have done here would be possible if the community was unable to find the money to finance its development. Nor would we be able to continue to make progress if the burden of taxation were to become intolerable.

Much has been said about our ability in this city to secure substantial federal and state aid for our various projects. Indeed, we have been highly successful in this. And while the enormous amount of time and effort and persuasion that is necessary to secure such aid may not be fully understood by many citizens, I am sure that most people recognize and appreciate what this has done for all of us.

It would be a mistake, however, to assume that all of our progress has resulted from governmental assistance. We must recognize the extensive private investments of business and industry which have contributed extensively to our development as a vibrant community. An excellent example of what I mean can be seen in progressive development activities which are occurring in the West End. These investments are eloquent testimonials to the faith that business and industry has in our future. Further, they demonstrate the high level of trust and cooperation which exists between our local government and the business and industrial community.

I will not dwell on one fact that is nevertheless a source of pride: the fact that with all of the progress that has occurred in the city, we have maintained a stable tax rate. At a time when everything costs more, we have been able to alleviate the tax burden while continuing and even improving our municipal services. This happy situation is the product of sound management and the devoted efforts of many people.

I have spoken of the progress that has occurred in the downtown area and in our economic development. But, of course, we have seen in the past eight years dynamic development in many areas of civic life.

In education, we have seen the construction of the Rupert A. Nock Middle School and the establishment there of a curriculum which draws educators from all over New England to observe and to copy. We have renovated the Brown School, and out of a 50-year-old structure, we have created a fine, modern facility. We are renovating our high school and making it a functional up-to-date school building without sacrificing its outward beauty.

We have seen both private and public efforts create an exciting Maritime Museum out of a lovely old building which for decades had been used for purposes of little value to the community.

We have seen the Anna Jaques Hospital grow, again through the dedication of private citizens and community service groups, into an outstanding regional facility, offering medical services second to none outside of the major metropolitan area.

If there were time today, I could well mention many other local organizations which have joined in what we have called our Renaissance and improved their facilities and developed their programs, and which provide our city with a rich cultural, social, and recreational life.

While not directly related to what we know as "redevelopment" all of these things are indeed directly related to a new spirit and a growing sense of pride in our city.

This spirit and pride are also reflected in the activities of private citizens. Perhaps in no other community of our size has there been so much restoration of private homes in so short a period as we have seen here.

We have seen more and more people move to the city in recent years. Almost invariably they are drawn here by its unique charm and by the exciting activity that I have described. Many of our new citizens have become active in our civic life, and this combination of the new and the native has been one of the healthy occurrences in the city.

The city is its people, I said earlier.

It is the new and the native; it is also the young and the old.

Newburyport has always been a good place for children, but often in the past children have not remained in their native city when they became young men and women. I believe that this is changing. I believe that this city is becoming a good place for young people to stay and live. I believe that our young people, whose loyalties can be very strong are finding new reasons to stay here, and are sensing the same feeling of pride that their parents have.

Our elderly citizens, too, are part of the continuing story of progress. Two excellent housing developments for the elderly provide places for them to enjoy their "golden age" in an atmosphere of comfort and physical attractiveness. But housing is not all. Our elderly citizens are actively involved in the life of the city and are among its most important assets. Perhaps, most of all, they know that they are wanted.

I could go on to describe other accomplishments which, together with all that I have spoken of, make the time in which we live one of the greatest periods in our city's illustrious history. However, time is short today, and perhaps we can sum it all up in a single word: spirit.

There is, indeed, a new spirit abroad in our city. A spirit of accomplishment, pride, confidence, and hope. We know it ourselves, but even if we did not, this spirit is recognized throughout the state where the name "Newburyport" has taken on a new image.

If we continue to work together, if we continue to combine imagination and common sense as we have done, the future will be bright and our city will prosper.

Perhaps our guidelines for the coming years lie in the following words: the oath taken by the citizens of ancient Athens:

"We will ever strive for the ideals and the sacred things of the city; both alone and with others; we will increasingly seek to quicken our sense of public duty; we will revere and obey the city's laws; we will transmit this city, to those who follow us, greater, better, and more beautiful than it was transmitted to us."

Respectfully submitted,

BOARD OF HEALTH

TO HIS HONOR THE MAYOR AND MEMBERS OF THE CITY COUNCIL

Gentlemen:

The Board of Health hereby submits its annual report for fiscal year July 1, 1975 to June 30, 1976.

This department has, as in the past, worked with and for the residents of Newburyport in order to assist, advise and correct the numerous details concerning public health which are the responsibility of this office. One major development for the benefit of a great portion of our city is the approval of funding for public sewers to be installed in our west end area. Contracts will be awarded in the fall, and works will commence in the spring of 1977.

Other programs dealing with housing, food, solid waste, water and air pollution are improving and becoming more demanding every day. School and public clinics are very active, especially the yearly flu clinics. This department has a very busy and efficient tuberculosis clinic every month at the Anna Jaques Hospital which is ever-increasing in its scope. Biologics and immunization vaccines are being dispensed, and permits for works of plumbing, gas and wiring are granted daily.

This office is working very hard to keep abreast of all new and developing programs coming out of the State Department. We attempt to keep the public aware of them, as well as giving them the benefits acquired from these developments.

The library has experienced an average increase in circulation of 17% annually for the last three years. This increase has tapered off to approximately a 6-8% increase, with the total circulation reaching 100,000. Per capita support of the library is $6.44. The cost per circulation is about $1.00, per capita circulation is 6.3. Per capita support for library materials is $.71 (municipal appropriation). Circulation per registered borrowers is 10 per patron.

The Friends of the Library continued to be active under the able direction of Mrs. Louis Dondero - they have contributed greatly to the library not only ingifts but in support and activities.

The volunteer project of distributing books to the Nursing Homes has been a productive service under the direction of Mrs. Barbara Moles. This is a project that should continue and can only through the help of volunteers.

The emphasis in the Children's Room has continued to be in the area of reading guidance and building up the collection in various subject areas.

Story hours and special programs have been well-attended. Several additional story hours have been instituted on a weekly basis for private or special schools.

The library received a $12,000 donation from an anonymous donor. This donation will be used to renovate the basement for use as an exhibit and lecture area.

The emphasis in the adult area has been to improve daily services and general collection to meet the needs of the library users. The increase in cost of library materials has hampered this somewhat, but the overall progress looks favorable.

The library received a $1500 ISCA grant for large print books.

The book collection at the South End Branch has been improved and updated, largely through the efforts of the South End Branch Improvement Association. This association was formed four years ago to support the branch library, they have been instrumental in maintaining service at the branch.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE CONSERVATION COMMISSION

To His Honor the Mayor and Members of the City Council:

Gentlemen:

The Newburyport Conservation Commission hereby submits its annual report for the fiscal year, July 1, 1975 to June 30, 1976.

The commission held four public hearings under the provisions of the Wetland Protection Act, Massachusetts General Laws, Chapter 131, section 40. All permits issued were for retaining walls, three of which were on Plum Island. The following named persons were issued permits: Mr. John Fletcher, Queen Street, Plum Island
Mr. I. R. Webster, Sr., 350 Merrimac Street
Mr. George Charos, Plum Island Point
Mr. Harold M. Heckman, S Street, Plum Island

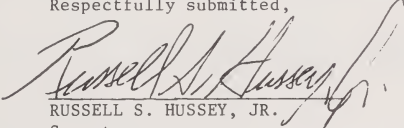

Several inspections were made by the commission to determine the wetland status of the property. The Hall and Moskow site on Merrimac Court and the Kelleher's Crossing development on Low Street were the most important decisions that were made.

The commission made recommendations on two types of zoning proposals. Input was given on the city land use survey, and the federal flood plain zoning map.

Members Nancy T. Noyes and Harold E. Hawkes resigned from the commission during this past fiscal year.

The commission was represented at the annual meeting of the Massachusetts Association of Conservation Commissions, by Edward K. Piel, Jr., and Michael S. Chierepko, newly appointed members to the commission.

Respectfully submitted,

RUSSELL S. HUSSEY, JR.
Secretary

WILLIAM DECIE, Chairman
NORMAN P. SMITH, Vice Chairman
RICHARD M. HURLEY
EDWARD K. PIEL, Jr.
MICHAEL S. CHIEREPKO

REPORT OF THE HISTORICAL COMMISSION

To: His Honor the Mayor and Members of the City Council:

Gentlemen:

During the fiscal year July 1, 1975 - June 30, 1976, the Historical Commission held nine regular meetings and three special meetings.

The major activity of the Commission centered around review of building plans in the Market Square Historic District. The reviewed included: 1) Changes to the entrance and rear doors of the Customs House; 2) Parcel 6B (Bowling Alley Building). In addition, the Commission reviewed the plans for the move and rehabilitation of the Powder House. (Project not done.)

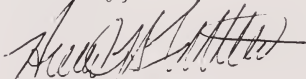

The Commission assisted in the promotion and preparation for various Grant-In-Aid applications under the National Park Service program, several grants being ultimately awarded to Newburyport recipients.

The Historic Marking Project continued, albeit at a slow pace. (Thirteen signs have been placed on historic houses, with more in process.)

Two separate applications for planning and survey activity were sponsored by the Commission, neither being accepted for funding by the Massachusetts Historical Commission.

The Newburyport Commission hosted a Massachusetts Historical Commission Historic Preservation Workshop in April, 1976 attended by preservationists from various parts of the state. Secretary of State, Paul Guzzi, was one of the featured speakers. In addition, members participated in various workshop meetings around the state.

Sincerely,

Howard H. Fairweather
Chairman
